Scramble, Skrewy Hick

Dear Vince,

Gary has just left and I have just spoken to Maggie, who has what strikes me as an excellent idea, hence Gary does notzhave this message for you.

In the course of preparing for the trial, where the charge is conspiracy, it would be valuable to have an abstract of what you present in "Watchman" that proves every time the evidence led to the existence of conspiracies the government shied away.

Can you and Tom possible do this?

I also think it important to check each and every citation, because of the possibility of typographical errors, of which there were some.

If you can do this, please send it to Moe or Alcock directly, but I would appreciate a carbon to have with me while I am there (among other things because there are friendly members of the press who may want backgrounding) and for proper credit in my own possible further use, especially in the work in progress (past tense) of which you are aware.

Matt either has not forwarded the envelope or is away. I have phoned him and have on a number of occasions asked Moe to phone him. Can you reissue the check, preferably sending it directly to the travel agent, so he will get it faster? If and when I get the missing one, I will either forward it to you or destroy it, whichever you prefer.

Have a good year.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
